

Me Too ©2018 Linda Allen

Am G Am G Am
I can hear it in your voice, although you had no choice
G Am G Am
When he came at you in the night, you were too young to fight
A G Am G
But listen, you will hear, The voice of women everywhere
Am G E Am
Me too (me too). Me too (rep). Me too (rep) Me too (rep.)
Am G E Am
Times Up (times up). Times Up (rep) Times Up (rep), Times up (rep)

Your heart's been full of shame, tho you never were to blame
The priest you'd learned to trust, made you a victim of his lust
CHORUS

When your boss called you in, he was wearing that certain grin
He had the power to get you fired, so you gave what he desired
CHORUS

From the White House to the streets, you can hear the women weep
Could you stand up, could you shout? Could you call the bastard out?
If you listen, you will hear, the voice of women everywhere
CHORUS

We'll say me too
We'll say time's up....

The “#Me Too” movement gained momentum in October of 2017, as women began to share their stories of sexual harassment and sexual assault. I hardly know a woman who does not have a story to tell. Here's a link, for survivors and advocates.

The “Times Up” movement soon followed in January of 2018, in answer to the harassment of women in the movie industry.
